TEMPLE SHALOM
Middletown, RI 02842

Dear Friends,

Thank you for your inquiring about Temple Shalom.

Temple Shalom is a welcoming community and we hope that you will look through the enclosed material and call on us with any questions and for further information.

We are an embracing, supportive, vibrant community that is committed to observing Conservative Judaism in a contemporary and progressive tradition. The congregation is devoted to the continuation of Jewish values, education, and culture.

The Samuel Zilman Bazarsky Religious School, on-going adult education, and study groups provide opportunities for the involvement and education of all our congregants. Holiday celebrations and social activities are a vital part of our Temple.

Temple Shalom honors the diversity of its members. We are dedicated to the spiritual, intellectual, and religious growth of our approximately 120 households. Our clergy and congregants are active, respected, and involved in the general community on a local and statewide basis.

We hope you will find Temple Shalom an exciting and vibrant temple worthy of your affiliation. We look forward to meeting with you personally, to getting to know you, and to welcoming you to our community.

L'shalom,

Scott Libman
President

A Place That Welcomes Your Ideas

All members of Temple Shalom are encouraged to participate in the development of our Temple programs. We invite you to join a committee or be on the Board of Directors and insure that your interests are addressed.

- The Board of Directors is elected by the membership and assists the Rabbi and Cantor with all aspects of Temple life, reporting to the congregation at twice yearly meetings.
- The Ritual Committee plans all holiday and Shabbat services, assigns aliyot for the High Holy Days, and assists the Rabbi and Cantor in determining the character of services.
- The Adult Education Committee plans varied educational programs of interest to both Temple members and members of the Newport County Jewish Community at large.
- The Fundraising Committee is charged with raising money to help pay the Temple's bills.
- Caring Committee members make hospital and nursing home visits, do community service on behalf of the Temple, contact members when they are ill or have been blessed with a Simcha, and insure a minyan is present when a Temple member is sitting Shiva.
- The Housing Committee is responsible for the upkeep, maintenance, repair, and use of the Temple building, grounds, and gardens.
- Membership Committee members encourage families new to the community to become members of the congregation, then review new member applications and present them to the Board.
- The Oneg Shabbat Committee organizes the food for Oneg Shabbats, Break the Fast, and other special services.

About Our Rabbi

Rabbi Marc S. Jagolinzer

401-846-9002
rabjag@earthlink.net

Rabbi Marc S. Jagolinzer, a native of Providence, is currently beginning his 30th year as the spiritual leader of Temple Shalom and is also the principal of the Samuel Zilman Bazarsky Religious School. In addition to serving the congregation, he teaches in the Department of Languages at the University of Rhode Island and in the Department of Religious Studies at Salve Regina University. He is also the Jewish Chaplain for both Johnson & Wales and Roger Williams universities.

Currently the President of the Aquidneck Island Clergy Association and Interfaith Rhode Island and chairman of the interfaith committee of the National Conference for Community and Justice, Rabbi Jagolinzer serves as a member of the Child Protection Advisory Board of the Diocese of Providence. He also writes a religion column for The Newport Daily News.

Rabbi Jagolinzer is a past President of The Rhode Island Board of Rabbis, past Chair of the Principals Council and a former board member of The Bureau of Jewish Education of Rhode Island. He is also a past Secretary of the Newport Hospital Board of Trustees and a past Chair of the Hospital's Ethics Committee, of which he is still an active member. He is immediate Past President of The Chaplaincy Center. For many years, he was the Chaplain for the Middletown Police Department.

Rabbi Jagolinzer was the first rabbi to preach from the high pulpit in Trinity Episcopal Church in its 266-year history.

Numerous awards have been presented to Rabbi Jagolinzer from groups including the NAACP, the United States Navy, the National Conference for Community and Justice, and the Jewish Federation of Rhode Island.

Rabbi Jagolinzer, the father of three children, lives with his wife Barbara in Portsmouth, RI.

About Our Cantor

Dr. Fredric S. Scheff
Cantor

401-884-2908
fredsilio@aol.com

Fred Scheff joined Temple Shalom in 1995 as the Cantor and has led the congregation in music, both singing and teaching, since then. In his role as Cantor, Fred enjoys exposing the congregation to a variety of Jewish music, both ancient and modern, and strives to do so at every opportunity.

Fred's Cantorial experience extends back to 1970. He has filled the role of Cantor, both full and part-time, at Temple Habonim in Barrington, Lawrence Jewish Community Center in Lawrence, Kansas, and Temple Beth David in Narragansett. In addition to his Cantorial studies, Fred earned a Masters in Music and a Doctorate in Music Arts (DMA) at Kansas University. He received his Bachelors of Music at Rhode Island College.

Fred's passion for singing and music extends beyond the Temple and Cantorial arena. He performs regularly in and around Rhode Island and nationally, at last count completing 1600 performances of concerts, operas and oratorio and well as many other venues. His recent role as Piangi in Lloyd Weber's 'The Phantom of the Opera' took him nationwide.

When not singing, Fred also teaches Jewish studies at the S.Z. Bazarsky Religious School and continues his music teaching at the Music School of the Rhode Island Philharmonic. Fred also works for Ocean State Community Resources.

Fred grew up in North Kingstown. He now lives with his wife Carrie, who is also a musician, and their four children in East Greenwich, RI.

The Samuel Zilman Bazarsky Religious School

The mission of the Samuel Zilman Bazarsky Religious School is to enrich its students by giving them an exposure to Jewish history and culture, knowledge of the religious aspects of Judaism, an opportunity to meet other Jewish children, and pride in being Jewish.

The school offers three levels of classes. There is a Sunday morning program for children ages 5 to 7. Children 8 and older attend classes Sunday mornings and Wednesday afternoons. The school also offers a post Bar/Bat Mitzvah class which meets twice a month on Sunday mornings.

The school engages in continuous quality improvement in its quest to accomplish its goals. All of the teachers are committed to nurturing each child's relationship with his/her Jewish heritage. Parental involvement in the children's education is strongly encouraged.

Membership, Dues and High Holy Days Seating

Dues at Temple Shalom are determined by membership category. Seating for the High Holy Days is included in membership. Religious school tuition is not included in Temple dues; it is paid directly to the Samuel Zilman Bazarsky Religious School.
